MOUNTAIN SHEEP—No. 10G

A Monarch of his domain . . . the lofty mountain peak. The massive horned ram is big, rangy and a picture of confidence as he climbs sure-footed, over almost perpendicular cliffs with the greatest ease. His head held high with style, he observes the lowlands with contempt.

BULL MOOSE—No. 10E

The loud cracking noises, break the silence of the forest, as a Bull Moose forces his way through young spruce trees to reach an inviting stream. His muscular body and massive antlers pose a picture of complacent authority as he prepares to feed on tender aquatic plants.

PRONGHORN ANTELOPE—No. 10H

"Will-O-The-Wisp" of the plains. The handsome Pronghorn's alertness, keen eyesight and extraordinary speed pose a real challenge to the trophy seeker. Who can ever forget his graceful bounce as he heads for parts unknown through the tall prairie grass.
